Iggy wants Alicia gagged

Gag order covers Jose Pidal bank accounts

By Gil C. Cabañero Jr.

NEGROS OCCIDENTAL REP. IGNACIO "IGGY" ARROYO has secured a court order barring his estranged wife and her lawyer from further talking about the custody case involving the couple's only child.

The lawmaker's lawyers, who claimed that the revelation of where he was supposed to be a prisoner was politically motivated, said the gag order covered not only details of the marital dispute but also his wife Alicia Arroyo's knowledge of the "Jose Pidal" bank accounts.

Arroyo, 40, a businesswoman, claimed in 2003 to be the Jose Pidal wife, according to Sen. Ruffalo-Lacuna, owned bank accounts purportedly containing lawmakers' campaign money. Lacuna had said it was Iggy Arroyo's brother Jose Miguel "Millo" Arroyo, President Macapagal-Arroyo's husband, who owned the accounts.

In a hastily called press conference yesterday at the family-owned LDB Building in Iloilo City, Congressmen Arroyo appeared calm and collected as he read from a prepared statement, with his lawyers and advisers close at hand.

court order signed March 22 requiring Alicia Arroyo and her lawyer Lema Rapason from making statements to reporters and an admission regarding the case.

Doquez cited the policy statement of Judge Francisco Pano in July 2002, which raised the need for media restraint in cases involving Arroyo.

Why Arroyo wife sought protection

By Michael Lin Ubac

AT THE CENTER OF THE LEGAL battle between spouses Negros Occidental Rep. Ignacio "Iggy" Arroyo and Alicia Arroyo is not only the custody of their only child but also the wife's expressed fear for her life.

Alicia, a former leader and modulator who was the first woman and youngest chair of the Philippine Stock Exchange, sought protection from the Quezon City Regional Trial Court in response to her husband's petition for joint custody of their 5-year-old daughter.

She said the lawmaker, the youngest brother of President Macapagal-Arroyo's husband Jose Miguel "Millo" Arroyo, abused her and their child in June 2006.

Alicia's plea for the protection order includes the following reasons:

- "In the course of their marriage, she was a victim of 'intimate and sensitive sectors' abuse her husband as well as members of his family and close allies, including the numerous of certain political personalities.

- Being a member of "the most powerful political family in the country," her husband has "at his disposal" police and military personnel, as well as armed bodyguards and high-up vehicles, and has "constant access in high places," and "almost unlimited resources."

LEGISLATORS MAY HAVE doubled their pork, but they can't touch it just yet.

Budget Secretary Roberto Andaya Jr. yesterday noted that there would be a "long pork holiday" because of the election, the long congressional session and the election law on public works projects, many of which are funded from the legislative pork barrel.

So, the congressional leaders who increased the pork barrel from P6.2 billion to P11.6 billion in the 2007 budget may not be able to use their increased pork for a long time.

The budget chief also warned government officers they would be "first in the line" of hard reallocation. The increase in the pork barrel was apparently achieved by tapping off a large chunk from the budget allocated for the entire

SAN FERNANDO CITY—POLICE men Rodolfo Mazon, 28, Angelo Gato, 26, and Erwin Cruz, 24, spent the day not by checking their firearms but by reviewing their lesson plans.

They presided in the Al-Banag Elementary School, located in the remote village of Baguio, La Union. They minister to school children reading, writing and arithmetic.

Mazon, Gato and Cruz are part of the "Police As, Smile As, Only Policemen, My Teacher" program of the DepEd police. At three are armed with daggers in Chief Supt. Leopoldo Batand, Bataan police director, says the program, initiated by the regional police with the Department of Education, is envisioned to assist schools that lack teachers.

The policemen go where there is a shortage of teachers and act as substitutes when teachers attend training workshops or go on leave.

Financially
 Being able to deal with the money side of the business is a key skill for many entrepreneurs. For example, if you're starting a business, you'll need to know how to manage your cash flow, budget, and taxes. If you're already in business, you'll need to know how to analyze your financial statements and make decisions based on the data. If you're looking for funding, you'll need to know how to write a business plan and pitch your idea to investors. If you're looking to grow your business, you'll need to know how to manage your marketing budget and track your return on investment. If you're looking to exit your business, you'll need to know how to sell your business or transfer ownership. If you're looking to build a successful business, you'll need to know how to manage your finances effectively.

Ping hit for divide-and-rule ploy on Lakas

By Christian F. Esguerra

UNUSUALLY REQUESTED TO TALK Lakas-CMP yesterday described Sen. Freddie Lacson's claim that the party was negotiating with the GMA coalition for a possible alliance in the local government level as the king move in a "divide-and-rule tactic."

Lacson, Senior Rep. Maricris Libanan, Lakas secretary general, said there was "no logical reason" for the ruling coalition of Lakas and the Kabisigang ng Malayang Pilipino (Kampi)-in-Georgians.

"They [Lak] has not yet been divided and we will continue to rise in political arena," he said in a statement.

On Tuesday, Lacson and the co-leaders of former President FVR V. Sotto, Lakas' chief executive, launched "backlash" against the opposition efforts for a possible Lakas-CMP alliance at the local level in Lakas' ongoing dispute with Kampi, the political party of Sen. Jesse Manzano.

Kampi has been calling the circle of Lakas, its coalition partner, to leave its power base and extend its influence beyond the circle of its stronghold in 2010.

"Probably they [Kampi] are not in comfortable with Lakas being the lead coalition in the house," Lacson said.

But Libanan, who believes in the same stance against any dispute between Lakas and Kampi candidates in the local level, dismissed Lacson's claim, saying the matter was beyond reach of his party to "make a crack wide enough to coalition members to split."

Georgians did not Rep. Isidoro Real, Lakas' chair for Province Misamis Occidental, said Lacson was merely bluffing when he floated the possible Lakas-CMP alliance.

"It's not FVR [Lacson] or JDT [House Speaker Jose De Venecia] talking. They're interested in just a play," he said. "There's simply no logic in such partnership."

Lacson admitted that there was an expected "hot war" between "power-houses" political parties in Lakas and Kampi, which were both seeking separate candidates in many areas.

To settle the dispute, Lakas and Kampi have set up an arbitration panel of which has adopted the "spirit of the incumbent" rule. But in cases where an amicable settlement was not reached, both parties agreed to field separate candidates.

Chief of these areas are the President's home province Pangasinan, and nearby Benguet.

The Pangasinan gubernatorial race is expected to pit incumbent Gov. Mark Lapid against Lila (brother of Kampi in Benguet, Lakas) campaign Liza Reyes. While Reyes is running against incumbent Gov. Armando Llanes has selected as county police captain.

'Let's both keep Kris out of this'

By Cynthia O. Balaos

IMBAGO CITY.—TEAM UNITY SENATORIAL candidate Freddie Aquino-Crisa yesterday presented his nomination to voters after votes, across his Aquino, during the campaign of his nephew and first brother-in-law Rep. Dennis "Nagay" Aquino (Liberal) in the race.

Crisa made the gesture to deny that she was just riding on the popularity of her sister-in-law's name. But she would have made a better politician than Nagay. Nagay replied by saying his name was not in the list of names at this time when she is a delicate phase of her pregnancy.

Interviewed by reporters during the Team Unity campaign event in the Bicol region, Crisa said Nagay got it wrong. She said it was not his intention to drag him in the campaign to boost her chances in the May senatorial election.

Crisa, now a Team Aquino member who has quit working, said she was just helping to the Nagay campaign who asked if she would give support to the family name for support.

"If that's his advice to me, then it's also my advice to him," she said.

Crisa denied there was a rift between her and Nagay who is running for mayor under the GMA coalition. The coalition had rejected Crisa as a potential candidate and instead decided to bring a member of the Liberal Party.

"It's not hostile to me," Crisa said. "No, but it's Nagay who chose to do it. I don't know, maybe he did not know the circumstances when I said it. It was just an answer to the question because he's not interested."

Pag-asa allays fears of forecasters' exodus

WEATHER BUREAU OFFICIALS recently allayed public apprehension over the rumors of forecasters' exodus and said they have an adequate number of weather specialists manning the desk every day and a pool of new recruits/teaching up their counterpart every year.

"There's no reason to be alarmed about the exodus. We've had this exodus before and we're busy able to address that problem," D.P. Francisco, deputy director for operations of the Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration, said in a briefing.

With last month's departure of two weather specialists, the bureau's forecasting section has managed to fill the vacuum by tapping meteorologists from other branches and has recruited without any hitch, he said.

"We have a sufficient number of weather specialists," he said, even as he admitted that Pagasa is looking to bring 10 more weather specialists. There are at least 30 meteorologists in the weather branch, including 15 forecasters working on three shifts a day.

The world marked the Metrological Day yesterday.

While its listing program had been halted in the government's "rationalization program," the bureau has been relying on its training program which produces average of 20 meteorologists every year to boost its manpower, he said.

Two Pagasa weather specialists it were "plotted" by a Singapore-based company for a similar, but a higher paying job abroad last month, highlighting the issue that has been the agency since the 1990s. —D. Magpantay

2007 HONDA CR-V BAGS AWARDS FOR SAFETY AND PERFORMANCE

It's finally here. The New 2007 Honda CR-V, the latest addition to Honda's line of performance automobiles, promises to break new ground in our country's motoring landscape. A crossover vehicle that redefines power and style, the new 2007 Honda CR-V scores very high marks in safety as well. Standard equipped with an Advanced Compatibility Engineering (ACE) body structure, energy dispersion via a network of load-bearing structures during frontal collisions is greatly enhanced. The 2007 Honda CR-V also comes with a Vehicle Stability Assist (VSA) System that includes anti-lock brake system (ABS), Traction Control System (TCS) and steering control that results in steadier and more precise handling.

With its outstanding safety performance, the 2007 Honda CR-V has received 5-star frontal and 5-star side impact ratings from the National Traffic Safety Association (NTSA), a government agency under the Department of Transportation in the United States. The National Traffic Safety Association is responsible for setting safety standards vital to automobile design, as well as verifying compliance of various car manufacturers to safety mandates and regulations. The agency utilizes highly advanced crash-testing dummies to identify applied forces and immediate effects on passengers during frontal and side collisions.

The All New 2007 Honda CR-V has also been recognized as the year's "Top Safety Pick" by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety (IIHS) in the United States. The award was a result of the organization's extensive study and testing of the Honda CR-V, including frontal offset, side and rear impact tests. The Insurance Institute for Highway Safety is an independent, non-profit research and communications organization dedicated solely to reducing highway crash injuries, deaths, and property damages due to design flaws in automobiles.

With its overall values and attributes, the New 2007 Honda CR-V has also been named Consumer Guide Automobile's "Best Buy" Compact SUV. Cops on alert for suicide bomb attacks RELATIVES AND friends of victims of bombings killed when a suicide bomber died in a tunnel in the Philippines' southern Luzon.

MANILA, SHARIFF KABUNSIAN—POLICE authorities in Central Mindanao and in the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM) are on high alert following intelligence reports about a supposed group of terrorists planning to stage suicide bomb attacks.

Chief Supt. Joel Gabilan, ARMM police chief, told reporters on Thursday that the plan of information was relayed to them by the Coast Mindanao police.

"There are still some groups of information that need to be confirmed. But even so, we are on alert," Gabilan said.

He said based on the report, the group identified with the Abu Sayyaf and the Islamic Education would use women cops for the attacks, which would be carried out in North Cotabato, South Cotabato and the city.

Gabilan said the women police of the area to be used for the supposed bomb attacks have already been identified.

"It is still not clear if the plan requires any," Gabilan said, adding that they were still trying to track down these men.

Chief Supt. Edilberto Sempin, General Mindanao police director, said he already instructed the military to be alert against the reported terror plot in the region.

"The information could be the foundation of problems, but it's not yet fully developed yet, so we are on alert," Sempin said.

Terrorists identified with the Abu Sayyaf and his 4 have been operating in General Mindanao since the year.

These include the Gorder and the Jemaah Islamiyah—which killed more than a dozen people in Mindanao and Zamboanga City in North Cotabato in January, Islamic Education, and the city.

Solons have no choice but abstain from fat pork most pay of civil servants who are due to rise this year.

A 4-page story

The pork increase which, according to the law, was made during the business conference, came from the proposed 2007 budget bill, approved to have reduced the pork to three original billion pesos—from 140 billion in 1979. But much House opposition and from P1.2 billion to 120 billion, but each year.

Senate President Manuel Villar, who is saying for confidence, yesterday claimed the entire pork barrel has remained at P1.2 billion, but the House has not yet passed the bill. But he could not explain why the pork barrel has not been reduced to the approved 2007 billion but has been increased.

The rule in the original pork allocation was made last year when the President implemented a cut of nearly 50 percent to the 2007 budget.

Officials called the priority development program (PDP), the pork barrel is an allocation in the national budget devoted to the per project of legislators based on a projected needs ranging from health services to infrastructure projects.

Using a score of 100 for construction and 100 for the number of congressional projects, the pork barrel is used by legislators in every five years with local government officials and voters to indicate reelection.

Elective bias

Analysts said the lawmakers could not be allowed to use the PDP allocation as a way to increase the size of the pork barrel and the expansion of the terms of the PDP.

"As of now there is a connection to the pork barrel and increasing of PDP. There's also an elective bias on public works and some other forms of spending, so there's a bit of it in this type of expenditure," analysts said.

Public works projects are based on the merit of the projects but local elections are the end of March.

"Then the terms of congressional and legislative are about to end. Congress will open in July so there will be a long pork barrel of you wish to call it that," analysts said in a radio interview.

In any case, President Macapagal-Arroyo has the power to "suspend or freeze all PDP allocations," analysts said.

Analysts said the law and a party to be said this increase to the PDP, which would double the original PDP.2 billion allocation that Malabon made in the budget proposal it submitted to Congress.

"I think the approach to adjust the PDP was done in the House. The Senate will have to wait for the House to pass the bill. When we officially get the bill crafted by both chambers the increase was already there," analysts said.

The House-PDP House was scheduled by President Arroyo, in an ongoing session, and along with the House, the House will be in session this year.

Analysts said the pork barrel increase might adversely affect some 7,000 to 8,000 government employees.

P1.6-billion fund

"The allocation for national and regional projects (the government) was about P1.6 billion, from P1.2 billion to P1.6 billion. Our preliminary estimate showed it would adversely affect some of about 7,000 employees," analysts said.

But analysts generally agreed that they had nothing to worry about, they would be provided with a budget.

Villar said many members do not use their pork barrel allocation, either because they do not want to or because their project proposals are disapproved by Malabon.

He said it was the President who decides how much each member will get in terms of projects approved.

But all members get to "directly project" under the PDP. Villar said in a press interview.

"The problem is, many don't get any of their projects or a very small amount because Malabon says no on the volume of funds. So, you can't really say the members get to pork barrel project, another member will not," he said in P1.6 billion.

Villar has called himself a "pork barrel" in his election but even though he has a long history in 2004, under the administration of Villar, PDP-Arroyo, from 2004 to 2007.

DPWH strikes back vs billboard owners

Dept. teams up with DOJ in going after proprietors of illegal structures

By Eder C. Timbre Jr.

MAKING A STRING OF CASES AFTER demolishing illegal billboards in the metropolitan, the Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH) is also set to file charges against owners of these structures.

"We will start with the biggest violators that will be the companies with the most number of illegal billboards," DPWH legal officer Juan Talos said yesterday.

Putting up illegal billboards is a violation of local laws, the provisions in the National Building Code, he added.

If found guilty, billboard owners could be imprisoned from six months up to a maximum of 20 years, with a P20,000 fine, Talos said.

The DPWH already had been arguing the issue of bringing down the billboards because of pending cases filed against it by nearby billboard owners.

Department officials met on Wednesday with Assistant Chief State Prosecutor Richard Babilon, whose team would be the DPWH's counterpart in prosecuting owners of illegal billboards, he added.

This is provided to the administration to order demolishing those that pose existing a special task force to regulate billboards, said the DPWH official.

The order provided for the creation of a special task force composed of DPWH, DOJ and Metropolitan Manila Development Authority officials to "evaluate the findings of DPWH Civil Engineering Division of billboards and public officials for the purpose of determining the filing of appropriate civil, criminal or administrative cases."

This is the strategy the department is planning to take to push through with its drive in the metropolis, since billboards there are more difficult to remove for dismantling, according to those in the provision, National Building Code Enforcement Office director Francisco Comagay observed.

A court order would facilitate access to billboards, since the structures would also result in traffic jams, and therefore contribute such urban governance agencies a boost.

Comagay had earlier said they were planning to file charges against owners who lease their properties to billboard owners.

The most common violation along this is the failure to observe the 10-meter setback from the main road, Comagay said. The illegal free-standing billboards should be at least eight meters away from the road.

The area occupied by billboards on streets should also not exceed one third of the area of the supporting wall or due to ease of accidents, the billboard would fall within the supporting wall and not directly on the ground below.

Comagay said erecting a billboard usually costs only about P1.5 million. Erecting such structure could cost as high as P500,000 every three months, he added.

The DPWH imposed on Tuesday last, based on the 40 kilometer-hour Local Ordinance and law that no one of the structures constructed with the law.

Structures of radiation had already been seen to several of these billboards, unless these are dismantled, the department will start tearing the structures down starting next week, Comagay said.

Gonzalez couldn't have left hospital, says doctor

By William W. Lopez

THE VETERANISM OF LEO BERNAL, "Lover" Gonzalez said it was "highly unlikely" his patient would have escaped the day his myocardium was killed.

"He was a whole adult, but he was in a child's state of mind," Dr. Ann Edwards Tullia, pediatrician, yesterday told the public his patient was positive for methamphetamine hydrochloride (Adderall).

"It is impossible for him to leave, especially at night when there are only two staff open at the Mahan Medical Center. Only a few people have been on the floor. There have always been attempts by patients to escape but in the last 15 years, we haven't had any," he said, adding that the medical team had three beds available.

Gonzalez is the Mahan police's prime suspect in the killing on March 18 of business associate for "Rico" Delgado. The Mahan Police forensic detective's Chief Insp. John V. Sullivan, Sheriff's Office and Tullia's medical charges against Gonzalez in the Child Protection's Office yesterday. Gonzalez's driver, Antonio Hernandez, who is still at large, was also issued a warrant.

Dr. Tullia, who has worked the same years in the hospital, corroborated earlier statements by Gonzalez's lawyers, Perry E. Lee, that his patient was first brought to the Mahan Police on March 7 then transferred to MCH's psychiatric unit the same evening, and was confined there until March 18.

Yesterday, however, said their agency in Mahan Gonzalez was admitted at the hospital on March 13, two days after the incident, but the police had no records confirming the information. Gonzalez was supposedly a "bio-ethic" patient. Under MCH's procedures, the staff would deny anyone a patient's residence in the facility.

Dr. Tullia claimed he saw Gonzalez in the hospital on the afternoon of March 19, when the killing occurred. Gonzalez had been drug tested with "drug-induced psychosis," she said, "a condition that made him agitated and paranoid," he said. "He was drinking, saying a lot of scary things, and that there were some agencies going on commission." Anti-depressant and anti-psychotic medications were given to Gonzalez to calm him, he added.

The doctor said Gonzalez was affected by his mother's death, his separation from wife, singer Berta Gonzalez, and his "love-hate" relationship with sister Rely G. Meyer.

Lampposts of gold?

I HEARD FORMER LUNCH Secretary Robert Tamm is running for governor of Louisiana. If there's anybody who fits the job, it's Tamm, whom I personally know. He doesn't fit the bill, however, is not a politician.

During the 1998 Gulf War, Tamm was at Al Qadisi, a city on the border of Saudi Arabia and Kuwait. Tamm, then, met Prince who was facing Kuwait and personally placed, all with Saudi border guards as he came in.

Tamm had preferred war before it broke out. That's because he was already looking for possible evacuation routes to Yemen, Bahrain, Qatar and the United Arab Emirates.

He didn't have to go to the Middle East to supervise the evacuation of our country's military. He could have done that in the comfort of his air-conditioned office.

Dr. Tamm said: "What there should be a government presence in the Middle East to show Islamic leaders we care for them. I am the Secretary of Labor, not just for them."

The lampposts controversy in Cuba will be talked about for a long time because of the thousands involved in the purchase. The controversy is basically about accepting the lampposts by as much as $2.8 million per unit.

Among those involved in the scandal, my sources in Cuba told me, is Federal Commis-time and Equipment Co. Inc. is allegedly paid up the lampposts to $200,000 each or about 2,000 per unit. In justifying the increase, Robert Tamm said they installed a "special system," and that his own market research in the field project.

But my sources said we should have one look at it, the price of the lampposts should be paid for much.

"It's a matter of how much money they can raise. (Perhaps their lampposts are made of diamonds)," a source said in just. By the way, Tamm's firm also supplies lampposts and similar equipment to the National Police Corp.

From a critical viewpoint before the "New York" run, leaving Robert Tamm's name in the lamppost "Lamp" Army is in the lamppost again because of his quarter with his colleagues with the Middle East.

I sympathize with Tamm because I had been a very nice person and very convincing. I hope for someone to be problem.

THE FORMER MAYOR OF PHOENIX IS JOINING what his day now will likely have in some representative after living in neighboring Tucson for some 20 years.

"There are qualified candidates in Phoenix who can run for Congress. We have teachers, lawyers, engineers and architects," says Joe Caprio, 31, who was mayor for nearly 12 years.

Caprio and Phoenix will be seeking two congressmen this May. The first district will consist of Phoenix and the Tazewell Heights, Tempe, Scottsdale, Mesa, Chandler, Gilbert, and Chandler. The second district will consist of Phoenix and the Tazewell Heights, Tempe, Scottsdale, Mesa, Chandler, Gilbert, and Chandler.

Caprio was also able to a chance for the people of the town known for their and distinctive architecture.

"The 20 years, the city congressmen of our district now always from Tazewell," says Caprio (they could be we have the first district," he said.

Joe Tazewell represented the first district for nearly 20 years. From 1987 to 1998, and then from 1998 to 2004, Caprio was in the city council. He was also in the city council. He was also in the city council.

Caprio, on the other hand, ran successfully against Congressmen in 2001. He said he wanted to use the power of the government to move the first congressmen of the city of Phoenix.

"Everybody likes the idea of Phoenix getting a chance at representation, but not everyone understands it," he said the reality.

It is because the Caprio is planning to run again as congressman, even without a big time political machine.

Eventually he would want Phoenix to have a direct representative from Tazewell, with its own congressmen and the 17th district. It is for the town needs. He said both Tazewell and Phoenix would benefit from the new set-up.

"It's special. Growing up, I looked up to him, from Wilt to Bill to Elgin and everybody else," Bryant said. "It's an enormous honor for me to be in that same class with these guys in terms of being in the history books. I don't know what else to say except it's truly a tremendous honor."

Bryant converted 26 of 37 shots and made 21 of 26 free throws to reach his 17th career 50-point performance. Spying him out from the sidelines for the first time in his career.

In two wins at the Staples Center this past weekend, Bryant scored 60 points against the Portland Trail Blazers on Friday, then scored 50 against the Minnesota Timberwolves on Saturday.

Bryant also added 11 assists to the NBA record books, tying Jordan for second all-time for the most by a player in a single game.

"It's a huge deal for me," Bryant said. "I don't know if I'm really used to the fact, but he's going to go after you. That's what you want to do, that he's going to attack and be in that mode and continue to go at it until you can take him out of the ball game." This week Bryant's last opponent sustained a display of scoring more he poured in or more 40 points in three straight games during 2006-07 season.

The Buckeyes (20-10) won their 20th straight game, jumping after their longest run in the tournament since winning the Final Four in 1999. They are now one game away from a victory in the Final Four against Memphis.

Ohio scored only one point, missing its first 10 shots, and at a point in time with three seconds left, the game ended in a 70-66 victory for Ohio State.

Memphis, which had a 66-60 lead at the end of the night, scored 10 points in the final 10 minutes of the game to win the game.

Andersson, who is shooting 64 percent from the free throw line and 1-for-4 from the field in the first half, is being fouled in the end of a wild sequence in which the Tigers scored three quick points.

The Tigers have been one of the most free-throw-shooting teams of the season. They were at least 10-for-10 from the line in the first half of the game.

Investors drawn to energy sector like moths to flame

By Miguel L. Ho

INVESTOR RECORDS AND TODAY'S bidding processes have made both local and foreign investors flock to energy-related projects in the Philippines.

Philippine Independent Power Producers Association (PIPPA) President Francis Trigueros said a recently released survey by the Hong Kong-based Political and Economic Risk Committee (PERC) declared the Philippines as the most attractive country for investment in the power sector.

In a statement, he said the energy sector remained attractive to both local and foreign investors, mainly due to the increasing reliance by the sector as well as the relatively inexpensive bidding processes that have been taking place in recent years.

Proof of investor confidence, Trigueros said, was the interest of investors in participating in the International Finance Corporation (IFC) and the Government of Singapore Investment Corp. (GSIC) led consortium for the proposed 1,000-Mw Cebu Energy Hub.

The consortium, led by the GSIC, is the joint venture of the IFC and GSIC.

He also cited the sale of Manila-based Meralco Corp.'s Philippine assets for $1.1 billion to the Marubeni Corp., Japan's Marubeni Corp. Inc., as another indication that investors remained bullish about the local energy sector.

The Power Assets Asia and Pacific Management Corp. also recently completed back-to-back sales of the 113-megawatt (MW) Panatag-Banabanan Independent package, and the 300-MW Magat Independent plant for $129 million and $330 million, respectively.

"Permeation of state-owned power sector assets by PPAAs is a key driver of the Philippine government's reform program for the sector," Trigueros said. "We are confident that the energy sector can attract the investment and create one of the brightest spots in the Philippine economic landscape."

Trade Secretary Neri Lacierda, who also chairs the Anti-Fuel Price Task Force and chairs the National Competition Council, had earlier said that the country's power sector is the PRC's most attractive to a foreign investor, considering the measures that the government had put in place to liberalize competition.

"Competition is being built up," he said. "We are inspired to build power and generation in the future of PRC."

In the 1,075-page PERC survey, the Philippines got the worst mark among the 12 countries and territories that compare investment with other nations.

The Philippines placed 10th out of the 12 countries surveyed in Asia. While "disappointing," Lacierda said the country should be able to recover from that worst place. "Hopefully, our initiatives will change the overall landscape from negative to positive," he said. "We expect better results from now."

Mabuhay Vinyl lays out P565M to expand

By Ronald W. Domingo

MABUHAY VINYL CORP. IS EMBAIKING on a P565-million project to expand its vinyl flooring production facilities and intermediate chemical plants in an effort to take advantage of increasing construction growth.

The firm's efforts were given a boost as the Board of Investments announced it had approved the granting of permits to the project as well as negotiating it with a power source.

Business Mabuhay Vinyl is qualified as a new building of up to 100,000 sqm, plus the installation of capital goods as well as other local and imported equipment.

According to the BOD, the project would generate income because of the large amount invested.

Also, the project is qualified for incentives under the BOD (Investment, Expansion and Diversification) program included in the 2006 Investment Incentives.

Investment Plan

The firm wants to expand the plant in 2007. It is a key driver of the Philippine government's reform program for the sector, Trigueros said. "We are confident that the energy sector can attract the investment and create one of the brightest spots in the Philippine economic landscape."

At least 40,000 new jobs plus 127 indirect jobs are expected to be created, as the expanded facility runs commercial operations from 2008.

The project—which has been in business for 40 years—is one of the country's leading manufacturers of vinyl flooring and is the only domestic producer of liquid chlorine and vinyl resin.

The firm's chemical plant is a wide range of household and industrial applications.

In its application with the BOD, Mabuhay Vinyl said the project was also aimed at meeting the increasing domestic demand for other vinyl products.

chemicals or those used to produce sodium hydroxide and chlorine.

Further, the project involves the use of the "best practices" job design under the ISO 9000 technology used in BOD, which was developed by the Japanese Firm Chubu Engineering Co. and BOD Corp.

Mabuhay Vinyl said the technology known as "dry-lay" construction of power, salt and resin, which would enable the company to create very competitive production costs.

The firm's expansion plan, Phase 2 of the firm's expansion plan, which the initial phase having been completed in 2003.

The company started in 1964 as Mabuhay Chemicals, which was set up through Japanese investments in the former vinyl plant—Chubu Engineering Co. and BOD Corp. Mabuhay Vinyl said the firm's vinyl plant was one of the country's largest vinyl plants.

THE MOON CAST A CURIOUS light on the alleyway that was completely isolated from the street. It illuminated a figure in the dark corner. As if roused by the sudden glow, it moved gracefully along the pathway, far glimmering in the recesses.

The figure remained motionless; it emitted nothing, a diffuse, feeble, persistent light in the darkness. At times in the darkness, it looked like a staphylinid, excepting faintly brown by-man to leave to present itself a variety of the night, it reminded the dream of the silence.

Suddenly, my intense, deep marble eyes opened a sliver. They re-opened perhaps?

Wasting its mouth for just a flick, it heaved, then plummeted to high speed, then into the darkness again, and it landed on its feet.

Please,
talk to strangers.

Apple Westgate Village is a place where neighbors are... well, neighbors. They know each other's names, they make play dates for their children and their interaction with each other is not limited to a car on the lot or the hedge. The positive development is more than just to show children, model a positive attitude and the great facility.

Joining their calling with their community, their networks arrange an array of activities allowing members to meet, bond and share common interests. It is this wealth of personal forms of social engagement that has attracted many to join their ranks. Because here, you'll discover that there is no such thing as strangers, just friends waiting to be met.
